Considerations:

Type of Offense – the type of criminal offense matters with regard to the level of risk the person poses to the vulnerable population (youth under 18, individuals over 65, or individuals with disabilities). Some offenses automatically disqualify the person from volunteering with Cornell Cooperative Extension, while other offenses may allow for limited and supervised roles.

Context of Offense – sometimes specific information about the criminal history, such as timing, cause and effect, multiple offenses, progress since the crime, etc. may affect the application process.

Appeals Process – An applicant may appeal any action taken within 30 days. Appeals must be presented in writing to the Executive Director. The Executive Director will review the request and any additional information provided, and render a written decision within 30 days of the receipt of the appeal. A final appeal can be made to the Personnel Committee of the Board of Directors of CCETC. That appeal must also be made within 30 days of the ruling by the Executive Director, and the applicant would need to sign an additional waiver to allow members of the Personnel Committee to review the applicant’s file, including background check.
